► Here's a shout-out to Latham & Watkins partners Michele Johnson and Robert Collins and associate Kathryn Running who helped X Corp. beat back a proposed class action brought under the Illinois Biometric Information Privacy Act related to its use of PhotoDNA software to police pornographic images on the platform formerly known as Twitter. U.S. District Judge Sunil Harjani in Chicago earlier this month granted their motion to dismiss the BIPA claims finding the plaintiff failed to allege the software tool can be used to identify specific individuals.
